

Do you think the euro crisis will lead, to credit for renewables projects drying up?

53%

1. Yes, already affecting projects lending capacity

2. Yes, if it carries on!

36%

3. No, renewables cashflow will keep banks lending!

September 2012

Do you think pressures on government finances will lead to continued downward shock to renewable support mechanisms

94%

1. Yes, the industry needs to be relentless on cost

2. No, climate change will drive adequate budgets

September 2012

Results produced using the CLiKAPAD Audience Response System - +44 1323 406000

When do you think government support for renewables will drop away altogether? A: 2015 (eg SOLAR)

1. No 21% 2. Yes, some countries! 63% 3. Yes, most countries! 16%

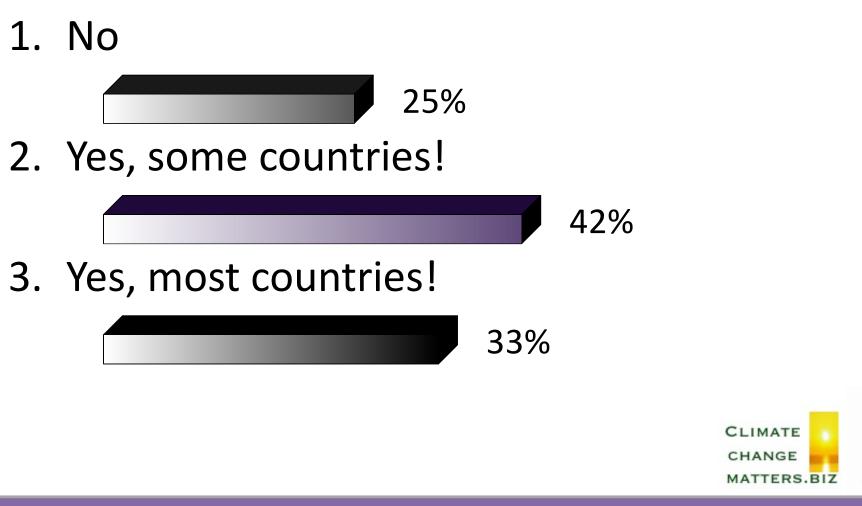

September 2012

Results produced using the CLiKAPAD Audience Response System - +44 1323 406000

When do you think government support for renewables will drop away altogether? A: 2020 (eg onshore wind/ biomass)

Results produced using the CLiKAPAD Audience Response System - +44 1323 406000

September 2012

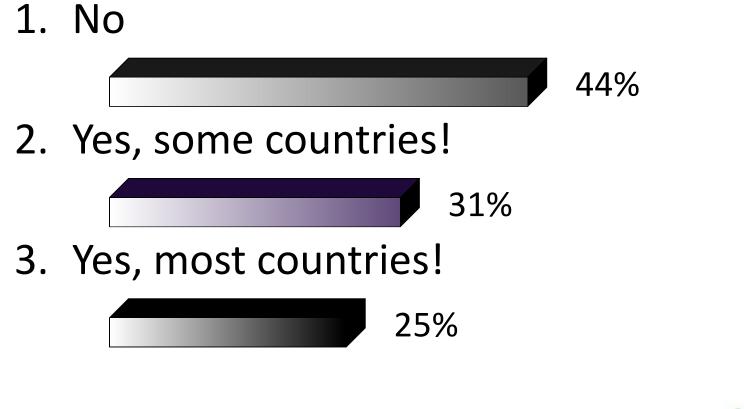

euromoney

energy events

www.euromoneyenergy.com

When do you think government support for renewables will drop away altogether? A: 2025 (eg offshore wind)

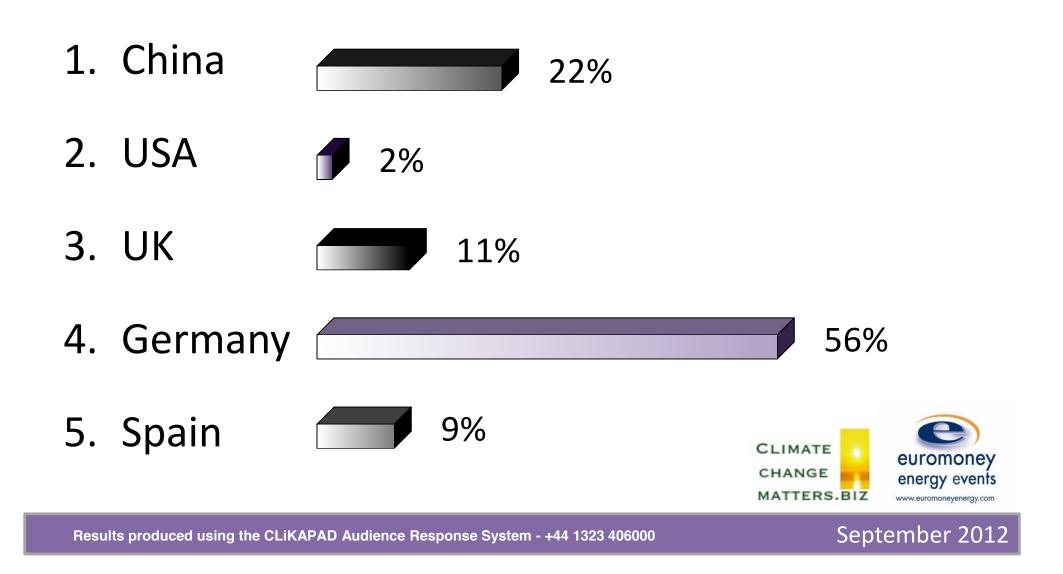

Results produced using the CLiKAPAD Audience Response System - +44 1323 406000

September 2012

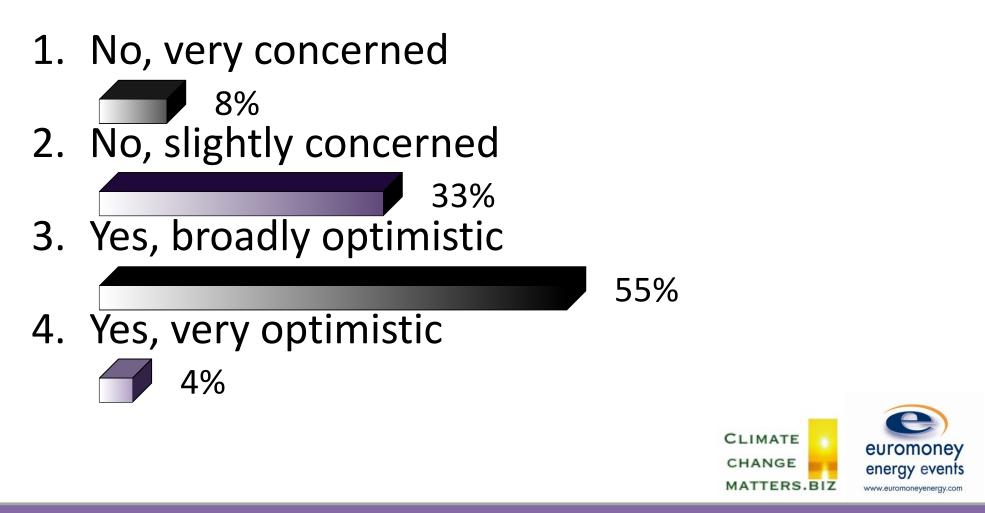

Which country do you believe is best placed to meet its targets?

As you start the conference are you optimistic about the investment future?

Results produced using the CLiKAPAD Audience Response System - +44 1323 406000

September 2012